SAA Chooses New Chairmen

Votes to Affiliate With National Assembly

Three permanent members were added to the executive committee of the Student Action assembly last Sunday night as three of the Assembly's working committees elected their permanent chairmen. At the same meeting the S. A. A. voted unanimously to apply for membership in the United States Student assembly, a national organization.

Hedvig C. Hogg '45 was selected to head the committee on contacts, Dorothy E. Brown '44, the war work committee, and Frances M. Horning '45, the committee of the post-war discussion group. The absence of a quorum prevented the holding of an election for a chairman of the publicity committee.

In the near future, a permanent chairman for the S. A. A. will be chosen by the executive committee, which consists of the chairman from each of the four activity groups, and an executive representative from each group. If the Student Action assembly chairman is elected from among the executive committee members, the existing vacancy will then be filled from the activity group.

By voting to apply for affiliation with the United States Student assembly, the S. A. A. is recognizing the purposes of the national group, which are:

1. To aid in winning the war by carrying out war services on the campus and in the community by helping unite the student generation of the United Nations.
2. To study problems at home and abroad, arising both now and in the post-war period, developing means for expressing our considered ideas, and to build for the future by better acquainting the student generation of the United Nations with each other's problems.

The United States Student assembly is affiliated with the well-known International Student Service organization which publishes "Threshold", a student magazine. It is expected that these connections will provide the Student Action group with more contacts with similar organizations on other campuses.

Men's Body Okays New Suggestions

Speaker Proposes Shortening of Constitution

The future policy of the Men's Assembly was outlined, and several resolutions were passed at the Sunday night meeting January 31st. In line with their duty to approve student organization activities, they also accepted the constitutions of the Student Action Assembly, Philosophy Club, and Alchemists.

After swearing in the newly appointed members and clearing out old business the meeting was turned over to Israel I. Shapiro, '43, as chairman of the constitution committee, for discussion of several constitutional revisions. These changes in turn brought further suggestions from the floor, one of which was passed as an assembly resolution. It concerned the attendance requirements of assembly men and was introduced as a step toward furthering the efficiency and strength of the assembly.

Following this discussion, Speaker Edward T. Peach, '43, suggested several changes in the routine manner of action and expressed his disapproval of the bulkiness of the present constitution. Due to revisions and amendments in the past few years the constitution now covers over eleven pages. The suggestion was to cut and revise this constitution to a workable size and in so doing it would make assembly action a quicker, more effective weapon. Also at this time the speaker read his resolution for a future policy. A motion was carried to adopt the plan as read.

The policy as it was passed is as follows:

Be it hereby resolved: that the policy of this of this assembly shall be;

1) To establish and maintain as simple student government machinery as possible.

2) To charge special committees with power to investigate issues that show a need for further information.

3) To require brief written reports from all committees.

4) To grant publication of all minutes of the meetings of this assembly and all reports of committees.

5) To file in the Dean's office:

Students to Elect Carnival Royalty From Eight Candidates This Week

New Police System On Chipman Hill Inaugurated

KLONDIKE RUSH TO END HOLIDAY

The eight senior men and women who have been announced as candidates for king and queen of the 1943 Winter Carnival are M. Scott Eakeley, William S. Hawkes, Richard S. Morehouse, Edward T. Peach, Nancy L. Cowgill, Dorothy S. Forsythe, Frances F. Head, and Elizabeth von Thurn.

These eight candidates were selected after a careful examination of the nominations submitted two weeks in advance by the various fraternities, sororities, and neutral groups on campus. After the results of these nominations were tabulated, the choice was narrowed to the above slate by vote of the coronation committee nominating groups. Final voting will be done by the entire college this week in chapel. Ruth R. Wheaton, '44, as chairman of the coronation committee, has been in charge of nominations and elections.

Due to the added difficulties of holding a Carnival on Chipman hill, a new policing system is being inaugurated this year. By constant moving about among the crowd on the hill, guards will be able to check up on those who have not purchased tickets.

Under the direction of Alfred G. Boissevain, '44, Skyline tryouts have already started to get the ski trails in order. Thew are concentrating on the slalom, downhill, and jump, while the ski team itself is laying the cross-country trail.

Two judges of the events will be Mr. Tygve Christianson and Mr. Frederick Hansen, who have served in this capacity for several past Carnivals. Mr. Oscar Haug, of the Lake Placid Club, has been invited to take the place of Mr. Earl C. Gordon, now in the Navy, a former judge.

Combination tickets for all the ski events will be sold at $1.65, while tickets for the jumping alone will be $.50. Klondike Rush tickets, sold separately at the door of the high school gym, will cost $.80.

As usual, the Klondike Rush will be held the Saturday night of Carnival, Feb. 20. Music will be presented by both the new Black Panthers, and records by Rod Frank, '44, and will take place, at 8 o'clock.

Season tickets will be honored Friday night, Feb. 19, at "Out of the Frying Pan," the Carnival play. However, single ticket may be purchased for $.75.

Carnival programs, whose nature is being kept secret by Lou Menand, '44, chairman of the program committee, will be on sale Friday evening.

If, because of inclement weather, the ski events should have to be cancelled, this will automatically cancel the entire week-end. There will be, however, an informal dance in the high school gym on Saturday night, Feb. 20, and the Coronation plans will be worked out in another way.

W.M.C. Announces Approval Of Colleges for War Training

Schools Not Yet Picked For Navy Programs In Which Middlebury Is Interested

Two hundred and eighteen schools, colleges, and universities last week receiv d the approval of the Army, Navy, and the War Manpowe. Commission to be utilized by the Army and Navy Departments in some of their new specialized training programs. No announcement has yet been made as to the colleges selected for the war-training courses for which Middlebury has made application.

Last week's announcement by the War Manpower Commission approved colleges for the following training classifications:

War Department—
- For training engineers
- For training army aviation cadets
- For basic training in the army specialized program
- For pre-meteorological training for army air corps
- For training officers for the quartermaster corps
- For training in navigation
- For training in advanced technical studies
- For training automobile mechanics

Navy Department—
- For training engineers
- For training women reserves

Air Reserve Will Finish This Term

Middlebury men who are members of the Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserve will derive the same deferment benefits due to the early termination of the first semester as did the regular members of the Enlisted Reserve Corps, according to a communication of the War department last week.

This announcement apparently applies only to those men who enlisted under the college deferment plan. Three students, George E. Snow '44, Robert R. Stuart '44, and James J. Conley '45, who were not enlisted under the deferred plan, have all been ordered to report for service within the past two weeks.

The latest War Department bulletin on this subject, dated February 2, reads as follows: "It is directed that the deferred status of students in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve who enlisted for subsequent appointment as aviation cadets be terminated at the end of the college semester, term, or quarter in which they were enrolled on December 31, 1942."

Middlebury's first semester was officially ended on December 18 so that on December 31, we were technically in the second semester. This fortunate circumstance, whether pre-arranged or not, has permitted Middlebury to retain a sizeable portion of it's Men's college enrollment during the present semester. Other New England colleges have been hard hit by the drain on enrollment caused by the calling of regular and Air Corps Enlisted Reservists.

This announcement will affect about thirty Middlebury students, according to a tabulation made in the Dean's office as of February 1. This number, added to approximately seventy-five men who have enlisted in the Enlisted Reserve Corps unassigned, will make a total of over a hundred students who may be expected to be called at the end of this semester.

Duranty Interview Offers Clues To Understanding Of Russians

"Stalin is a poker player, and a good poker player. He plays with his enemies as well as with his friends. He makes it purely business." This statement came in answer to a question put to Walter Duranty about Stalin's feeling towards the United States.

Stalin for a long time had not trusted England and France because of unkept promises, but the United States did go into the country under the American Relief Society during the famine days of 1921 and '22 and really kept thousands of people alive who would have perished with millions of others from typhus, that dread scourge.

Duranty through his vast experiences in Russia explained that Stalin is of Asiatic extraction and thinks in the Oriental way. When he met the Japanese ambassadors he greeted them as fellow Asiatics. Owing to this mixture of Asiatic blood the Russians are "a cruel and barbaric race." This truth comes out under the influence of vodka in the Russian and saki in the Japanese when they both lose that passivity and state fanatically their aims for the future. "Japanese individually are very courteous people but considered as a race they are bloodthirsty."

Mr. Duranty has a bet on with a writer friend on how long the war will last. He asserted daringly as some may think, "We shall see Germany's downfall by the end of this year because she is now showing signs of cracking and Europe can't take another winter like this one." He also estimates that we will make peace with Japan sometime about six months after the peace with Germany.

Walter Duranty

His bet also has certain stipulations. When Germany realizes she is doomed he believes Goering will make the final dramatic gesture and shower London with bombs from hundreds of planes. "Goering is a capable man who built up the air force and unfortunately we only know him as a much caricatured figure with a big bay window." One of Mr. Duranty's latest writings is a bit of fiction based on the assumption that Germany might spend her last effort on bombing New York.

Just recently Mr. Duranty was asked to write some communiques on Russia for Pic magazine. He seemed exceptionally wary of the situation until one of his acquaintances on the staff explained that she considered communiques were the best propaganda material for encouraging allies and discouraging enemies. Many times in the past he has aroused indignation by what they refer to as "red" sympathies.

Mr. Duranty loves travel and adventure and his lecture tours keep him on a constant go from Boston to New York to Chicago and out to the West Coast. He has an apartment in Greenwich village but it is mostly the place where he receives his mail. This same love of new experiences took him to Spain during the Civil War where he sided with the Loyalists and to France at the front with Gort in those "dreadful June days." Things were too quiet for him there and he departed for more active fields.

German Club Guest Of Professor Neuse For Recent Meeting

Prof. Werner Neuse was host to the German Club at his home Friday evening, Jan. 30. About eight German students attended.

Various games were played in German. Among them was Lotto and a word game where combinations of letters are matched, after which refreshments were served.

This was the second meeting of the college year. At the previous meeting, which was held during the first semester, movies of the German summer school were shown by Professor Neuse. Only students taking advanced German are admitted to the meetings.

VOL. XLI FEBRUARY 10, 1943 NO. 18

WHICH COMES FIRST

The "Chicken or Egg?" controversy has never been an issue on Middlebury's campus. The perennial question here has been: "Which comes first—Middlebury or the fraternity?"

It is natural that the fraternities should appeal to the College for help in the difficulties which have arisen this year. But if this is normal, how much more natural is it for the administration to hold that the interests of the College comes first when there is a clash between the two?

When the fraternties asked the College to permit men living in dormitories to break their room contracts so that they might move to the houses, a definite conflict of interests existed. Administration compliance with these requests would have been an admission that the maintenance of the fraternities was more important than the maintenance of Middlebury College, for both were facing very real difficulties.

Each fraternity is a business unit. Each must either face its own problems, or work through the Interfraternity Council, to arrive at common solutions. It is unfortunate that some past statements of the administration were construed by the fraternities to mean that the College was ready to tender this sort of assistance to the fraternities.

As things stand, it is the present job of the fraternities to work out their own problems, keeping in mind the words which we heard so frequently last September: "the College comes first."

THIS CHANGING WORLD

The CAMPUS can hardly be accused of not being in step with the times. These are changeable times—uncertain times.

The printing trade has not escaped the effects of turbulent times. It has experienced the same wartime difficulties as other industries. Labor is scarce. Its skill is not of the highest quality. Machinery cannot easily be replaced, and needed repairs are often dependent upon a search for some scarce part.

These among other reasons have made it advisable for the CAMPUS to make considerable readjustment. This issue itself offers evidence of change. Headlines, body type, and general format have all been changed. They may be changed again in the near future.

All of us have had to accustom ourselves to changes of all kinds during the past few years. The shift of the CAMPUS publication headquarters at The Burlington Daily News is another change which we hope Middlebury College will accept with understanding.

HOW MANY MORE?

At the last meeting of the Men's Student Assembly three new campus organizations were chartered. Later this week the campus was hearing of another proposed activity, intended to correlate much of the thought and effort of other organizations.

The worth of any of these proposed activities is not now being questioned. However the very fact of their appearance at this time gives rise to wonder that students have so much time on their hands.

Now is the time for concentration rather than dispersion of effort. If a thing is worth doing, it is worth doing right. It should not be disputed that the academic side of college is now more than ever the real object of student concentration. Over and above this, the true value of extracurricular participation by an individual may be measured, not in terms of the number of activities entered, but by the intensity of interest and effort.

NOTICES

LITERARY CLUB will hold a meeting tonight, February 11, at 7:30 in Hepburn Social Hall. George W. Sullivan Jr., '43, president of the club, will read an original poem. The group will then discuss it.

John Kalajian, '43, is in charge of the program. The meeting will be very short.

Due to the temporary lack of a telephone in the CAMPUS office in Old Chapel any important information should be given to the Managing editor at Hepburn, 261-M or to the Editor-in-chief at 62.

All members of the faculty have been requested to compute the tentative grades in year-courses for the end of the first semester of 1942-43 in such a way that these grades may become the final grades in the cases of students who go into military service.

In order to have a student's tentative mid-year grades become final when a student leaves college, it will be necessary for the Registrar's office to have some official notice that he has entered military service.

Until the Registrar's office has received such notification tentative grades will remain as such on the records.

The CAMPUS office may be reached in its new location in Old Chapel by telephoning 423-M.

The Student Action assembly wishes to make clear the fact that students, faculty members and townspeople alike are invited to attend the Sunday evening discussions on war and post-war topics.

Students inducted into military service will be granted their degrees at the 1943 Commencement under the following conditions:

1. That they have satisfactorily completed all but the last semester of college work. (If they are inducted before the beginning of the eighth semester no further requirement will be made.)

2. That at the time of their induction they were regularly enrolled in good standing in the final semester of their course, pursuing studies which, if completed according to the rules,, would have led to the A. B. degree.

3. That they have completed all special requirements set by the faculty.

4. That they present before April twentieth certificates of satisfactory standing in some branch of the armed forces.

Seniors being inducted into the service should give two weeks notice in writing to the Registrar so that course examinations may be arranged with the departments concerned, covering the students' work in their courses up to the dte of withdrawal.

MIDD BITS

Picked up a bit of human interest material the other day when we came across the informal scribblings of some of our guests at the Cultural Conference. Evidently the men on the platform objected more strenuously than did the audience, to some of the long-winded and dogmatic orations of some of their colleagues, and expressed themselves most emphatically in spur-of-the-moment doggerel and hasty notes to each other. Collected after the sessions by some enterprising fan, I give them to you for what they may be worth.

"When Virgil looks 'round for his peers,
Among artists, musicians and seers,
He sadly confesses—
(His soul it distresses)—
The public's as lowbrow as steers!"
"Remember Andy Gump?"
"Why not give him a warning?"

"Oh I wonder where we are?
What has this to do with war?
Save that with him I will fight
If he keeps this up all night."

"What if the speech is an interminable conversation?"
"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom."
"Though perhaps he may please the elite,
Virgil won't bring the crowd to its feet.
His speech is a sort of a sieve
That let's pebbles drop down where we live."
"That strange little Thompson called Virg'ell
While of nonsense too close to the verge,"
Continue his say
All the rest of the day
Till we hit his bald plate with a-cudgel!"

And in the more serious vein, here are two examples of the more contemplative and constructive type of thought:

"Somehow I have a strange feeling that "Culture" is most significant and satisfactory the less we think and talk about it."

"The truly cultivated man or woman is the friend of originality. But organized "culture" is, as Clive Bell wrote long ago, the foe of creation."

Have you heard about the germ-resisting sophomore who having worried his friends for days by his peculiar appearance and giddy feelings, finally consented to go to the infirmary to have his supposed malady analyzed? Miss Hood took one look at him and said she found nothing wrong. Upon telling his friends of the verdict, they heaved sighs of relief, until the genial sophomore remarked: "She said I'd had the measles for several days, but it's O. K. now—I'm convalescing."

Members of a local woman's club were asked recently to come to a meeting prepared to do soap-carving.

This is a most curious and adolescent activity, considering the fact that Red Cross quotas for bandages, knitting and sewing for the armed forces remain behind schedule.

Perhaps they are all rehearsing for Bette Davis parts remember the ivory-carving in "Now, Voyager."

Vermonters are shrewd. Vermonters are frugal. Vermonters are like butternuts. There are more cows than people in the state. In fact, there are so many cows that many people have assumed a bovine attitude toward politics and material change in general.

The good townspeople of Middlebury have indicated such an attitude by voting down the plan for the chlorination o water. This means, in effect, that the poor students will continue, at certain intervals, to undergo the traditional, uncomfortable and ambulatory ailment which is caused by various forms of wild life in the water.

The people of Brandon rejected chlorination until one fine day when they discovered a corpse floating leisurely about in their reservoir. Anybody got an old corpse he doesn't know what to do with?

The engagement of Marjorie Maxham has been announced.

The engagement of Louise Amanda Sanborne '43 to James Gerhard Krieble, U.S.N.R., was announced on December 31, 1942.

Women Fly For U. S. A.

Navigation Learned In Groundschool By Women

With many new fields of service being opened to women under a new wartime program, aviation is now becoming one of the fields in which women will take an active part. The Women Flyers of America, Inc., located at the Hotel Plaza, New York City, is the organization which will provide aviation training for women.

The actual flying training is now being given to girls at Easton Pennsylvania while the ground school courses will be held in Manhattan. The primary course of 42 hours consists of: navigation, meteorology, civil air regulations and general servicing of aircraft. The tuition for this course is $25.

Upon completion of this course there is advanced instruction in the aforementioned subjects and courses in aircraft engines, aircraft and aerodynamics. The tuition for this advanced work is $50. However, in order to receive these special rates it is necessary for a girl to become a member of the Women Flyers of America. Membership dues for this organization are $5 a year.

With this training the specific jobs which will be opened to girls will be: trainee traffic controller, a job that can be taken while learning; junior observer in meteorology; and link trainer, operator and instructor. These jobs pay between $1,400 and $1,800 a year. As new jobs are opened information may be obtained from the monthly bulletin called The Woman Flyer.

After a student has a pilot's license and 75 hours of instruction, she may obtain information on the Army Air Forces Training command from Miss J. Cochran at Fort Worth, Texas.

In connection with this work information has been secured concerning the Air Traffic Control Division of the Civil Aeronautics Administration which operates air traffic control training centers at New York, Kansas City, Santa Monica and Seattle, in order to train personnel for the Federal air traffic control services.

The purpose of this organization and its various duties is to make flight safe by preventing aerial collision and to avoid unnecessary traffic delay in aircraft operations. Trainees entering the Federal air traffic control service receive a primary training of about two and a half months. When this is completed personnel are assigned to more active training at airport traffic control towers or airway traffic control centers. Advancement in this field comes after about six months.

Educational qualification can be substituted for experience qualifications, therefore a girl who has had four years of college training may qualify.

Gale President Of Alchemists

Jensen, Kinsey, Baines Hanchett, Mersereau To Be Other Officers

Donald I. Gale, 43, was elected president of the Alchemists at a reorganization meeting held Friday, Jan. 29, after approval of a new constitution. The meeting was conducted by John T. Jensen, '43, temporary chairman.

John T. Jensen, '43, vice-president; Roy H. Kinsey, '43, secretary-treasurer; Emory P. Mersereau, '44, press agent; Prof. Conant P. Voter as faculty representative, and Lois A. Hanchett, '44, as student representative on the executive committee, Dr. James S. Coles as faculty representative, and Elliot A. Baines, '43, as student representative on the program committee, were the other officers elected.

A constitution was accepted at this meeting with a few changes after presentation by a committee appointed at the Jan. 20 meeting to revise it.

The program was then turned over to Dr. Coles who was scheduled to speak on graduate research followed by a discussion. However, because of the lack of time following the elections and discussion of the constitution, Dr. Coles substituted a movie on the story of Portland cement.

The objects of the Alchemists as stated by their constitution are to better themselves as chemists, both socially and professionally, to bring their members into a closer and more lasting friendship, and to stimulate an interest in chemistry and its relation to the other sciences.

The membership is open to any Sophomore, Junior, Senior or graduate student majoring in chemistry, any professor or instructor affiliated with the Chemistry department, or any person accepted by a majority of the active members.

Carnival Posters Are Now on Sale

Carnival posters designed by Hugh M. Taft '44 are now on sale. This poster which won first place in the contest sponsored by the carnival publicity department depicts speed as its theme. A skier, in overtones of blue, is seen racing down a slalom course.

Members of temporary Skyline will canvass the various dormoritories and students will be able to purchase these placards for twenty five cents each.

Summer School Plans Underway In Spite of War

New Courses Offered With War as Keynote

Plans for the Middlebury Summer Language School are being made on a tentative basis due to the fact that college facilities may be used by the government for Army and Navy training.

The French School, slightly smaller this year, will again be under the direction of Prof. Andre Morize, head of literature and history at Harvard. He will be assisted by Prof. Vincent Guilloton of Smith College. Among new courses to be presented are: War French and France's Place in World History, together with work intended to prepare people for rehabilitation work in Europe.

The Spanish School, under the direction of Prof. Juan A. Centeno, will be staffed by a faculty of 35 native professors and instructors from Spain and South America, including several specially delegated by the American State Department. Special concerts of music and dances are planned for Sunday evenings. The school will probably occupy Gifford Hall.

The Italian School, directed by Dr. Camillo Merlino of Boston University, will probably be located at Hillcrest.

It is expected that the German School will be held as usual in Bristol, Vt., with headquarters at Bristol Inn. It will be under the direction of Dr. Ernet Feise of John's Hopkins University, with Prof. Werner Neuse of Middlebury as dean.

In addition, elementary and intermediate instruction will be offered in Portuguese and Russian under the Spanish and French Schools, respectively.

Last year West Point sent several Army officers to the Spanish and German Schools. It is expected that both Army and Navy officers will attend all four schools this summer.

4 New Men In Assembly

Four new men have taken their places as temporary Men's Assembly representatives to replace those forced to leave since the opening of school. These men were chosen at a special election held by the executive council of the assembly on Friday night, January 30. The elections were called in the dormitories, rather than by fraternities, to insure a complete proctor system for this semester.

Those men elected were: Alvin A. Rathbun '44, from the third floor of Painter Hall; Donald Y. Gilmore '45, from the fourth floor of Painter Hall; Richard A. Setter '45, from the fifth floor of Gifford Hall, and Peter E. Funck from first floor Gifford-north. They will act as proctors on their respective floors and attend the assembly meeting as student representatives. All of the abovementioned men and Avery D. FORUM DISCUSSES POST-WAR WORLD; PLANS SEWING AID

"Economics and Politics in the Post-war World" was the topic of discussion at the first meeting of Woman's Forum last January 26. The panel, led by Francis M. Horning '45, was composed of Genevieve M. Jodry '43, Kathryn A. Holbrook '45, and Joyce H. Mickey '46.

Tentative plans for the next meeting, February 16, were announced at which time Professor Pierre deLanux is to speak. It is also announced that there is a possibility of a joint meeting with the International Relations Club of the University of Vermont. The present food shortage makes definite plans impossible.

The Forum has started on plans for the construction of children's clothes for the Red Cross. Materials have been bought by Miss Clara B. Knapp, professor of home economics, and Helen M. Bouck '43, Miss Bouck has also been trying to purchase yarn for knitting, but has been unable to obtain any up to this time.

A new installment of books from the Carnegie Foundation has been placed in Forest recreation room. A world map has also been placed there by the Forum, so that there might be a comprehensive understanding of the geography of the war. A scheme of rotating committees to mark the battlefronts and areas occupied is being considered.

Wives, husbands, and friends of Middlebury people are cordially invited to attend these meetings.

Stamp Sale Now Totals $2000.50

Two fifty dollar war bonds were sold in Painter Hall on the men's campus last week, bringing the total sales of stamps to the $2,000.50 mark. For the week the men purchased a total of $120.15 stamps while the women's sales only amounted to $88.35. This was a noticable decrease for the women when it is considered their previous sales were higher, and compared with the men's college their enrollment is higher. The decrease in sales was especially seen in the purchases of the women in the smaller dormitories while there was a slight increase in the sales in the two larger dormitories, Forest and Hepburn.

Announcement was made in chapel that the "Friday night habit" was not proving as satisfactory as the "Sunday night habit," and for that reason agents in the various dormitories will solicit on Sunday nights instead of Fridays. This will go into effect, but depending on sales in the women's college, women agents might continue to sell stamps on Friday nights.

Off campus agents will continue their selling as will agents at the various sport events.

FRENCH GROUP TO HOLD DANCE

The French Club formal, to which French club members and invited faculty guests may go, will take place on February 27 in the Grand Salon of le Chateau. Jean V. Ledden '44, is chairman of the dance.

Heading the prgoram committee is Ruth F. Norton '46. Mabel H. Buttolph '45, is in charge of refreshments, Marjorie K. Palmer '44, is chairman of the committee on musical arrangements, and Mary-Louise Koehler '44, is chairman of the decorations committee.

Campus Shifts Office

Burlington Publishing Company Prints Issues in Future

This issue of CAMPUS is the first to go to press with our new printers, the Burlington Publishing Company.

This first issue was set up and composed on the Burlington, Vt., linotype machines as are the DAILY NEWS and the THE ST. ALBANS DAILY MESSENGER, but was printed on the St. Albans press of the Burlington News Company.

Copy was edited and headlines written in the new CAMPUS office on fourth floor, Old Chapel, which is now in two rooms instead of the single room at the Otter Valley Press.

New Bordoni type face, new Tempo heads, and a reduction from six to five columns are some of the more obvious technical changes. Changes in the procedure of issue production are more fundamental. Under the present arrangements, CAMPUS copy is sent to Burlington Sunday night by train, and is set up Monday afternoon. The layout is composed Tuesday by an assistant editor, a new staffer, and a member of the Senior Board, who make the trip on the CAMPUS budget. Incidentally, cost of the new arrangements will be no more and possibly less than when the paper was printed in Middlebury.

At Burlington, news staffers will be able to see a rotary press like those used by the New York Times and other large newspapers, and also will see the general set-up of a daily newspaper which is quite different from that of a weekly.

The DAILY NEWS also has an engraving service which will obviate the necessity of sending pictures to New Lebanon, N. H., to be made into cuts.

The most obvious disadvantage of the new arrangement will be the need for a weekly trip to Burlington, but the Senior Board feels that this will be compensated for by the fact that deadline schedules will be more rigidly adhered to by both the CAMPUS staff and our printers with a consequent reduction in time required to edit the paper.

Debating Team Wins at McGill In Verbal Battle

Team Meets Vermont In Debate on Feb. 24

The men's debating team won its first debate of the semester Friday, Feb. 5, from McGill University at Montreal. The proposition under consideration by the debaters was "Resolved that political and economic democracy are interdependent." Middlebury represented by John Unterecker, '44, and Charles Parker, '46, upheld the affirmative. The contest was international as well as intercollegiate in character for in addition to the two Americans from Middlebury, a Newfoundlander and a citizen of the British West Indies took part representing the Canadian school.

Judging of the debate was on the basis of three considerations, material presented, deportment and oratorical ability. The Middlebury team clearly outweighed its opposition in the material presented but lost ground to the Canadians on the other respects. As a result the judges found the contest a close one. After the debate which was sponsored by the McGill Debating Union Society, the hospitable Canadians showed the visiting Middleburyites a bit of Montreal night life.

The next debate for the men's team will take place in Monroe 303 on the evening of Feb. 24, when Middlebury will meet the University of Vermont. The speakers for Middlebury will be Robert Reuman, '44, and John Unterecker, '44. The proposition to be debated will be, "Resolved that the Federal Government in cooperation with state and local governments should establish and maintain a planned economy after the war." Middlebury will take the negative.

U. V. M. OPPOSES MIDD IN DEBATE

Women to Debate Twice Thursday In Boston

Mildred J. Hansen '44, and Joyce H. Mickey '46, took the negative in the debate with the University of Vermont Tuesday evening, February 2. The topic was Resolved: That college education for women should be drastically altered for the duration of the war. There was no decision made in the Senate.

A return debate will be held at Burlington with the University of Vermont where the debaters will take the other side of the same question. No date has been set as yet. The debaters will be Jane P. Cline '45, and Joyce Mickey.

On February 11, Barbara B. Higham '43, Elizabeth von Thurn '43, and Josephine A. Kirk '45, will take part in two debates at Boston, one with Radcliff College in the afternoon and the other with Boston, University that evening. For both debates there will be the same question: world union. The Middlebury debaters will take the affirmative.

Student Action

On this campus, the war workers committee initiated the scrap drive, has supervised the mailing of copies of the CAMPUS to service men. The publicity committee contributed posters for the scrap drive, and the discussion group committee has sponsored two Sunday-night discussions on the broader aspects of the war. In the future discussions, more specific topics will be under consideration.

The contacts committee has selected Professors Claude L. Bourcier, Boylston Green, and Robert W. Rafuse as judges for the essay contest, the theme of which is the Middlebury Culture Conference.

Following the meeting, there was a discussion on "Planned Economy", with Prof. Kurt R. Petshek, moderator, and Paul D. Davis '44, student in charge.

Naval Cadets Are Gold Cane Guests

The C.A.A.cadets were guests of the Gold Cane in Pearsons recreation room Saturday night, February 6, from 7:30 to 10:30, at the first party of its kind to be given at Middlebury.

Decorations, including airplane silhouettes and name tags in the shape of wings, carried out an aeronautical theme.

Chairman of the committee for the party was Dorothy J. Burton '44 assisted by Elsie F. Noe in charge of refreshments.

Professor and Mrs. John G. Bowker and Professor and Mrs. Richard L. Brown chaperoned the group.

Folk dancing and games were on the program with music provided by records.

Colleges Chosen

For training chaplains
For a school of recognition

It has been pointed out by Pres. Samuel S. Stratton that Middlebury has been interested in obtaining approval for the training of a naval unit, not of the type listed above. For example, this first announcement by the joint committee for the selection of non-federal educational institutions does not include the colleges which are to handle the Navy Department's basic training course, nor the Navy pre-flight training courses. According to President Stratton, Middlebury has been interested in both of these programs.

A quoted statement of the joint selection committee reaffirms President Stratton's assertion that this announcement should not be taken to mean that Middlebury has been left out of these service training programs. The committee stated that "no institution not approved up to the present time should conclude that its facilities will not be used."

Both Norwich and the University of Vermont were on the approved list as schools to be utilized by the War Department. Both schools will be used to train army men in engineering, and as aviation cadets.

b) copies of all approved amendments to charters.

c) copies of all assembly regulations.

d) reports of all committees.

The assembly received a motion introduced by J. Allan Robinson, '44, regarding the trustees' approval of an appropriation to be taken from the Campus reserve account. This money will cover the now additional expenses of printing and mailing CAMPUS copies to the men in service. The motion was referred to committee.

Due to the continual loss of representatives, a committee of George F. Wiemann, '44, and Donald B. McGuire, '46, was appointed by the speaker, for the investigation of house representation in the assembly. Also under committees, Elam M. Hitchner, '45, was appointed to the dance committee and will work jointly with the committee from the Women's Assembly.

NUNNEMACHER AND FRASER SKI IN PLACID MEET

Rebecca Fraser '46 and Barbara Nunnemacher '46 have been selected to represent the women's ski team in a meet to be held at Lake Placid Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the Lake Placid Club Sno Birds.

Miss Fraser and Miss Nunnemacher will represent Middlebury on the American Women's Ski team, and will take part in the annual international downhill-slalom competition against the Canadian women's ski team. The American team scored two victories last year, one at Mount Tremblant and one at Lake Placid. Miss Fraser is a regular member of the contingent and Miss Nunnemacher was chosen as an alternate.

MOUNTAIN CLUB VOTES TO DROP REGULAR HIKES

Regular Mountain club hikes will be discontinued for the duration of the war, it was decided at Thursday's meeting of Skyline. Gas rationing has made it impossible to use the trucks at all so that there will be no more ski hikes, sugaring-off parties or regular fall hikes to the mountains.

However, this does not mean that there will be no more Mountain club. It will continue its activities by organizing ski hikes to Chipman hill on Sundays beginning after the carnival and lasting as long as good skiing weather lasts. In this way, if the groups are large enough they will be able to use the ski tow.

Plans were also made at the meeting for bicycle hikes to nearby places when the ice and snow clears away.

Tests for Skyline tryouts will be held in March and elections of temporary Skyline, consisting of ten men and ten women, will be made at this time.

Gertrude Nightingale '44, is in charge of the annual carnival magazine which summarizes all the events and competitions.

W. A. A.

Among major W. A. A. activities of the winter term is a basketball tournament now in progress among the various classes. Each class has a first team, and these terms will remain in existence for four weeks. During this time each team will play every other team twice.

Freshman and sophomore second teams are vying with one another in a separate contest. Games have been arranged for them with all the other teams but they are not competing in a tournament. Two out of three games will decide the victor of the second teams.

The contest Friday, February 5, was a walk away for the sophomore first team which defeated its senior opponent by a score of 30 to 7. Sophomore team work was good and the game was a fast one with "Mew" Wisotzkey as high scorer. Other first teams battled it out this week, the sophomores defeating the freshmen with a score of 32 to 27. Agnes Fink, '45, was high scorer for the winning team. With excellent pass work the freshmen were able to net 26 points to the juniors 21.

A second team game was also played between the sophomores and freshmen Friday afternoon. The result was a score of 24 to 23 in favor of the sophomores. These teams were almost evenly matched. Barbara Drury, '45, netted the winning point. This same sophomore team won a victory over the seniors, the final score being 23 to 15.

Defense Dance To Take Place This Saturday

Proceeds from the Defense dance to be held Saturday night, February 13, will be converted into a government war bond which will be added to the $20[illegible] bond netted from last year's Defense dance and set aside for a scholarship fund.

The accumulated fund will be given as a scholarship to an eligible junior when the bonds have matured. A plan has been submitted to Dr. Stephen F. Freeman suggesting that the bonds be converted to straight value so that the scholarship money may be given sooner. This proposal is still under consideration and no decision has been reached.

Raymond H. Fox '44 is in charge of the record dance which is to be Dutch treat.

Last year William H. Calkins '44 planned an original dance and began the scholarship fund. The object of this affair was to stimulate the sale of war stamps and in doing this to benefit the Middlebury students.

With the school behind him the Victory Dance was a financial success. $105 dollars from tickets added to the profit from cokes and faculty donations brought the total to $150.00. The Black Panthers donated their services for the dance and the women's college came dressed in red, white, and blue for victory.

Alice L. Atwood '40 was married to Roger F. Spaulding on January 26 at Woodstock, Vt.

The engagement of Claire W. Chapin '40 to PFC Robert Surrey Beaton was announced in January.

Pucksters Trounce UVM in Double Victory; 7-3 and 6-0

Victory Against Rivals Is First Win for Icemen

Jumping from the frying pan into the fire, U.V.M.'s hockey team was twice defeated within a week by Middlebury. On Tuesday, February 2, the Panthers skated over their opponents by a 7-3 score and in a return match held Saturday, February 6, the icemen shot their way to a 6-0 victory.

On Tuesday afternoon the "Green and Gold" opened the game with a two goal lead before Midd's defense took hold. Skating the puck through the opposition, Kenny Moore set up a shot for "Shute" Palmstrom for the initial score. Then tieing the count just before the close of the first period, Charlie Proctor passed one through the nets.

The Blue and White team began the second period by sending in two more counts, putting Midd ahead for the rest of the game. Scoring his second goal of the game, Palmstrom opened the attack by squaring off a pass from Moore. Soon afterwards, Captain Gale broke into the offensive zone passing to Moore for the score. At this time the opposition netted their last goal of the game, when they caught the defense off guard to skate the rubber in for a tally. A third goal was made in this period by Phil Dunham, who lifted the puck into the cage directly from a face off in U.V.M.'s zone.

Scoring twice in the third period Charlie Proctor made the final score a 7-3 victory. The first of these was a screened shot from the side boards, which passed by the goalie unnoticed. Shortly after Proctor again scored after taking a pass from Dunham.

JV's TOP KUA 56-51; LOSE TO G. M. J. C., MT. ST. JOSEPH'S

On Saturday, Jan. 30, the Midd. J. V.'s met Kimball Union Academy on their home court and handed them a 56-51 set-back.

The game was played on a small court and both teams concentrated on offense. Both long set shots and short push-up shots were working well for the Panthers. The K. U. A. men had a hard time trying to break through Middlebury's defense in the beginning of the game.

In pre-game practice, Joe Webber dislocated his jaw leaving only six men for Coach Kelly to call on. Then, after two minutes of play in the second half, Mooney was taken out on fouls, so the rest of the second half was played without any subs.

Bob Brown is getting back into shape and looking very good again, after being out for almost a month with a cracked collar bone. Brown, Hitchner, Mooney, and Stevens all hit the double figures, Mooney leading the scoring with 16 points.

BILL BOARD

By Calkinst

Friday night the basketball team is playing its last home game of the season—against Norwich. Although the season's record is not as good as it should be, the team is having a good year. The principal difficulty is lack of reserves. Ferd Ensinger was lost to the squad because of an attack of pneumonia, and now Johnny Cadwell is out of action for at least a couple of games due to an injured arm. This leaves a six-man varsity squad. Coach Brown is supplementing this group with a couple of talented JV players—Bob Brown and Mert Stevens.

The team should take over the Cadets Friday. Over at Norwich, playing on the large Armory floor, Midd played its poorest ball of the campaign and was nosed out, 36 to 35. It'll be the last chance for Middlebury to see Capt. Freddie Lapham, Bob Adsit and Earle "Bish" Bishop in action on the court. "Loopie" has done a swell job of captaining the team and is the leading scorer. His average is in the double figures. "Adsy" makes up for his lack of scoring punch by getting the ball off of the defensive backboards regularly and having a lot of scrap at his guard position. "Bish" has had hard luck with injuries, but has played good ball when he's been in there.

The team has a habit of winning the close ones—this makes it kind of hard on Coach Brown. He's had to rely on iron man basketball from his regulars, and usually the team begins to tire rapidly towards the end of the game. Coach has helped bring Middlebury out of the basketball doldrums, and has the respect and co-operation of the entire squad. As Doc Farrell says, "Coach Brown sees the best in everyone."

Perhaps one of the reasons why the basketball team has begun to win a few games (already they have more victories than were scored in the previous two seasons combined) is the fact that George Farrell is sitting on the bench. The first basketball trip that George took in years was the New York State one, and Midd won both games. New York teams seem to be Midd's meat this season anyway—three of the victories are over these teams—Union, N. Y. State Teachers and R. P. I. Let's schedule more New York teams next year.

The hockey team finally came through with a couple of victories after taking it on the chin all season. The team has played a good brand of hockey this year, but has lacked that final punch that brings victory. With the exception of Colgate, the scores have been close. It's nice that the wins were at the expense of UVM—we haven't had a very successful year with our Burlington neighbors, athletically speaking.

The board track relay team, another of Coach Brown's squads, travel down to Boston Saturday for the BAA games. Last year the Blue and White ran second to Amherst, but ahead of Maine and the University of Connecticut. This season Parker, Hollister and Stebbins have all cut about two seconds off of their times for the quarter mile. Will Bangs is scheduled to take over the lead-off spot, and Lynn Sackett will be the alternate. The team is confident that they can take over any relay team in their class, barring accidents, and we wish them all of the luck in the world in their only meet of the board track season.

The ski team swings back into action this week-end, too, traveling to Dartmouth for the 34th annual Dartmouth Winter Carnival. New Hampshire will probably be Midd's big worry. Last year the I. S. U. meet was held at Middlebury. Dartmouth won, with New Hampshire second and Midd third. Bobo Sheehan injured his ankle jumping a week ago, and may be bothered by this, although he is planning to make the trip. Sheehan and Capt. John Gale will ski four events, Hawkes and Hendrix will probably run the combined, Bailey will definitely run downhill and cross-country, and Dunham will probably enter the jumping only.

It looks like a busy week-end for Panther teams.

Skiers Travel To Dartmouth For I S U Meet

Leaving this Thursday afternoon, the ski team, long inactive, will hit the road for the first time this winter since the Placid meet at Christmas. Their goal is the combined ISU Championship meet and the 34th Annual Dartmouth Carnival, which is to be held at Hanover, N. H., on Friday and Saturday. Limited by the new carnival rules to six men, the team will probably be made up of Captain John Gale, Will Hawkes, "Bobo" Sheehan, Phil Dunham, Cliff Hendrix, and "Tink" Bailey.

The meet's opener will be the downhill race, which is to be run off Friday morning. Due to the transportation difficulties the race is to consist of a controlled course on Balch Hill, two miles from the college, instead of the usual race on the Moose Mountain trail. That afternoon, the eight-mile cross-country langlauf is to be the featured attraction.

The following day the slalom will be held on neighboring Oak Hill as in the past. The final event, the jumping, is to be run off that afternoon on the Dartmouth 35 meter jump. Rounding off the meet will be the competitors' banquet which is an integral part of the Dartmouth carnival.

The team, although it has been inactive as far as actual competition is concerned, is in fine shape and will be able to meet up with any pace that will be set by the field of the eight top-notch eastern college ski teams which will be competing in this meet. With the idea of giving their traditional rivals, the University of New Hampshire a good run for top honors, Captain John Gale has been running the skiers through their paces, on the jump and cross-country course during the week, and then sneaking off to Breadloaf over the week-ends for slalom and downhill practice. Untouched by the war, with the sole exception of Bob Stuart, and still stinging from the Placid defeat, the Panther snowmen are on the war path, and out for blood.

MIDD TO PLAY NORWICH; J. V.'s MEET FLIERS

Opposing a once victorious Norwich five, Midd will play their last home game of the season this Friday evening, February 12th. Following this game, the team travels to Burlington on Tuesday February 16th, for a return match with U. V. M.

In their last meeting with the Cadets, Midd was nosed out by a one point margin, due mostly to errors which have since been ironed out in practice. This seems to indicate a chance of evening up the record. With Norwich's squad remaining about the same, the records show that they have no one outstanding man, which furthers the possibilities of a well-matched battle.

The Tuesday game will be one of even higher tension, judging from the first game between such rivals. Our main worry will be in checking the volley of shots usually made by Killick, U. V. M.'s most valuable player.

The two teams compare favorably, except for this fact and, should exhibit a fine piece of playing.

With the exception of Johnny Caldwell, who suffered an arm injury as the result of the R. P. I. game, there will be no inactive members for Midd. It is doubtful whether he will be in shape for the U. V. M. tussle, but should be present at the final game against St. Mikes.

This leaves the probable starting line-up for Midd with Capt. Lapham, John McGarry, Bill Calkins, Bob Adsit, and Ray Fox in for Caldwell. This combination has worked many times in previous games, and should not prove too great a handicap. If Norwich starts the same team as before, they will have Steblen and O'Neill at forwards, Miller at center and Capt. Dean and Daley in defense.

This Saturday's program will also hold a basketball game, along with the hockey match, when the J. V.'s take on another section of the Canadian Fliers. The past record of this squad is not known like that of their hockey team, but in any such organization there are always a combination of men who

Norwich Tops Midd

The Panther basketball team travelled to Northfield last Wednesday night to tackle the Norwich horsemen, and came home on the short end of a 36 to 35 score. Midd led at the end of the first half 19 to 17, but were outscored in the last period of a slow game.

Playing on the huge Norwich court, the Panther's failure to shoot often enough and to follow their shots brought about the defeat. Captain Feddie Lapham led the Midd scoring with 15 points, followed by Bill Calkins with 7 and Johnny McGarry with 6. Norwich had no individual standouts, the scoring was evenly divided among the starting team.

Both team's passing was sloppy and the shooting was poor. The teams were never more than four points apart, and with about five minutes to go the score was tied at 35 all. With a minute to go, Miller sunk the foul shot which gave the Cadets a one point victory.

Loopie Lapham was the only Middman who could find the hoop consistently. A tough break came for Middlebury early in the game when Johnny Cadwell broke his glasses. Johnny went back in the game the second half, but was not as effective as usual. Speedy Ray Fox did a good job filling in at his guard position.

Williams Wins 47-36

Falling before a late Williams rally, after leading most of the game, Midd's quintet lost 47 to 36 at Williamstown on Saturday, January 30th. The Panthers jumped ahead at the beginning of the game, and stretched their lead to seven points at half time, 22 to 15. Johnny McGarry paced the Midd attack scoring 16 points.

McGarry's four field goals, mostly on pivot shots, helped give Midd a comfortable half-time margin, but the Purple hoopsters started finding the range in the opening minutes of the second stanza and soon it was a nip and tuck battle. With but four minutes to go, Midd led 34 to 32. In the final three minutes the Ephmen put on a furious attack which netted them 12 points and victory. It was the final game for four of the Williams squad due to their mid-year graduation.

Freddie Lapham and Bill Calkins were off, scoring only 8 points between them. Johnny Cadwell came through with five baskets, mostly on set shots. Midd was getting the ball off of both the offensive and defensive backboards during the first half, but the team tired in the second half and succumbed to the Purple's final barrage. The game was fast and well-played, but both teams missed a lot of shots.

Lapham and Calkins High Scorers; 4 Games Won

After leading 18-10 at the end of the first half, the Panther hoopsters finally nosed out a scrappy R. P. I. squad to win by a 43-41 score last Saturday at the high school gym. Midd. was only in trouble once, at the middle of the last half, when a couple of beauties by R. P. I.'s Gaeiski pushed the score to 29-28 in favor of the Maroon and White.

Calkins started the game off for Middlebury with a nice lay-up. Lapham followed suit with a snappy angle shot from the corner. Another nice shot by Calkins and one by Adsit gave the Blue and White an early eight-point lead. Finally, McLaughlin came through for the opponents on a shot from close in. By mid-period, the Panthers were leading 14-4 and at halftime were on the long end of an 18 to 10 count.

Beginning the second period, the pace slowed down considerably. However, R. P. I. was still fighting, and soon her passes began to connect, and they moved up despite some accurate long shots by Freddy Lapham. The Midd. men seemed a bit sluggish and did not cover their men as well as before. The Midd. passes did not seem to be clicking as well as in the first period either. Finally, a one-hander and a lay-up by Gaeiski put the opponents one point ahead. This seemed to awake the Panthers again, and Calkins took the Blue and White out of trouble with a lay-up following a speedy solo run. Loopie Lapham came through with two nice long shots and a foul, and Midd. relaxed again. Finally, with four minutes to go Middlebury leading 40-36, R. P. I. then started to make their last bid for victory. Gaeiski sang one, but it was cancelled by two free tosses by Calkins. With about one minute to play, and the Panthers leading 43-40, a double foul was called on Midd. In an attempt to tie the score, Gaeiski sank one of the fouls, and then took the ball out of bounds in an attempt to score a field goal. The Blue and White managed to hold off this last rally, and the game ended 43-41 in favor of Midd.

The team seemed to be playing as well as it has ever. In the first period, the passes were clicking beautifully, and the individual shooting was excellent. In the second period, though, it was a different story. Midd. seemed tired and played out, and except for occasional rallies, did not seem to be able to keep up with their scrappy rivals.

Calkins was playing his usual tricky and speedy game, and his shooting, if anything, has improved. Lapham's play was still characterized by his polished long-range shooting. McGarry's floor work has improved a lot, and he is showing more scrappiness under the basket. Adsit played a strong defensive game all the way through, doing a good job of getting the ball off the backboard. Caldwell played a good defensive game, but was not feeling up to par.

Hockey Team To Skate Flyers

This Saturday is to be the scene of another home hockey game. This time the contenders are a team of Canadian fliers, brought down from Canada by Billy Wyman, Midd hockey captain and star during the '40 season. The Canadians will get here in the morning and the game is scheduled for 2:00 p. m.

Little is known about this team, but it is reported that they have beaten McGill University 6-5, which means that they will be no pushover. Bill Wyman, who will be one of the players, was one of the best hockey players that ever hit Midd, and if he is an example of what the rest of the team is like, Coach Phinney's boys are going to be in for some game. In addition to this, the Midd team will lack the support on the second line of Phil Dunham, who will be part of the ski team at the Dartmouth Carnival, which unfortunately, falls on the same date as the hockey game.

THE INTRAMURAL TROPHY RACE

By Lynn Sackett

At the halfway point in the hockey schedule there are two teams still undefeated, ASP, with three wins, leads, and SPE, with two victories to its credit, is in second place. DU, having lost only one game to ASP, 1-0, seems to be the only other strong contender for the hockey cup.

After three scoreless periods, ASP's Clay Coursey scored in a five-minute overtime to defeat Chi Psi, 1-0.

Then the DU's and the Dekes began a battle that lasted for two hours. After a scoreless first period, both teams scored in the second. DU went ahead, 2-1, on a long shot by Cliff Hendrix early in the last period and Spence Wright tied the score again with less than two minutes left. A five minute overtime produced no score. In a "sudden death" period which lasted forty-five minutes, the DU's, who had out-skated the Dekes throughout, finally came through with the winning goal.

KDR, playing without Lew Ensinger and Goalie Joe Webber, lost a close game to DKE, 3-2. Bob Sheehan made all the DKE goals.

DU scored early in the first period and held a 1-0 lead to beat Chi Psi by that score. It was their third win.

DKE has taken undisputed possession of first place in the basketball league, having won all eight of its games. Chi Psi is a close second with seven wins and but one loss. As yet these two have not met each other. Since upsets have not been uncommon so far, the race still seems fairly wide open.

Here are the results of the past two weeks play:

DKE and DU eliminated KDR and Chi Psi, respectively, from the ranks of the undefeated by scores of 36 to 20 and 29 to 16.

SPE scored an easy 24-8 win over Theta Chi.

KDR upset DU in a close game, 23-18, and held onto third place in the standings.

Chi Psi took an early lead over ASP and held it throughout the game to win, 27-20.

An unusually strong Neutral team beat out SPE, 22-20, after an exciting battle that was close all the way.

The Dekes made it seven in a row, taking over Theta Chi, 29-19.

Chi Psi won easily over KDR, 29-13. KDR was not at full strength.

The Neutrals had little trouble in winning from Theta Chi, 32-16.

Chi Psi downed Theta Chi, 35-21, for their seventh win.

The Dekes won over the Neutrals, 43-27, after a game that was closer than the score indicates. The losers led for the first period but, having few substitutes, tired in the last part of the game.

SPE came back from their defeat at the hands of the Neutrals and took over ASP, 10-2.

JV's Lose

The score at half time was 21-15 in favor of Mt. St. J. The score was tied up at 35-35 with a minute and a half to go. A long field goal for the Green Wave put them in the lead again, and their other five points were foul shots, made from seven fouls called on the Midd. team. Brown and O'Rourke led the high school attack, while Hitchner was top man for the Panthers.

Green Mt. Wins

Chalking up their twenty-first consecutive victory this year, a strong Green Mountain Junior College quintet downed a scrappy Midd. J. V. squad 48-46 last Saturday at the high school gym. This was the closest score by which the Green Mountainers have won any game this year.

At the start, the game was nip and tuck, and the scoring was in favor of the Panthers if anything. At the end of the first half, the Blue and White were leading by a 27-22 score, due mostly to the attack led by Hitchner, Mooney and Brown. Stevens played his usual fine defensive game.

Beginning the second half, Midd. lost the support of Mert Stevens, who went out on fouls. The team as a whole seemed tired out and could not meet the renewed attack of the Green Mountain Juniors, and despite a gallant fight, were gradually overtaken, and when the last gun went off, they were trailing by two points, 48-46.

Trackmen Will Run In BAA Meet

Climaxing a month of concentrated training, Midd's board trackmen will leave for the annual B.A.A. meet, to be run on Saturday, Feb. 13 at Boston. This meet represents the cream of athletic talent and will be attended by all the major colleges in the country.

Those men to represent Midd are Will Bangs, "Holly" Hollister, Hal Parker, Lynn Sackett, and Dave Stebbins. The order in which they plan to run is Bangs, as lead off man, Parker, Hollister, and Stebbins in the anchor position, with Sackett as alternate.

Coach Brown, doing double duty this winter, has been coaching the board trackmen along with the basketball team. The results of last week's time trials were very encouraging according to the comparisons with last year's times. An average of about two seconds per man has been cut from the records.

Beside the various distance and relay events the meet will be highlighted by competition of many nationally known amateurs, probably including two-miler Gregg Rice, and vaulter Warmerdam.

DR. BURLINGAME GIVES LECTURE IN SPANISH CLUB

"Real Peruvians are mestizos of Spanish and Indian ancestry," declared Miss Frances M. Burlingame, assistant professor of psychology, in her talk before the Spanish Club in Forest recreation room Tuesday evening, Feb. 2.

Four days of feasting, beginning July 28, Peruvian Independence Day, bring together in Lima's "central park" representatives of all the peoples, each decked out in the costume of his home, she continued.

Garcilazo de la Vega Inca, first outstanding Peruvian, was born in Cuzca, 1536, of a Spanish captain and an Indian princess. His education, according to both Spanish and Indian models of the times, was complete. Once, when he was six, and a local civil war was going on, he, his mother and sister hid for two years in a palace in the city. Some years later, Garcilazo went to Spain.

In conclusion, Miss Burlingame told of Garcilazo's brilliant literary and military careers in Spain and Italy.

Midd Tops UVM

changing his defense a few times, Coach Phinney played the entire squad during the game. Skating on the first line were Capt. Gale, Palmstrom, and Moore at center. The second and third lines respectively were composed of Dunham, Proctor, Urban, Paul Gale, Whittier, and Young. For our defense both Gus Gustafson and Jon Izant held the cage position with Thompson, Pepin and Puksta in at defense.

Traveling to Burlington on Saturday the team again met with success even under adverse skating conditions. Playing on slushy ice the Panthers opened a hole in the U.V.M. score board by holding them to a 6-0 game, giving our two goalies their first shut-out of the year.

To start things off, the Blue and White marked up three goals in the first period. Palmstrom opened the scoring streak with a hard shot soon after the starting whistle. Next in order was a low "slap" shot by Dunham in front of the cage, for another count. Then again before the close of the period Moore and Palmstrom skated in with the puck, with Moore making the point.

With the ice becoming softer, the game slowed down proportionally, hence the Midd offensive tamed down a bit, but managed to carry in one during the second period. This was made possible when Dunham and Young worked the rubber into offensive ice. Dunham was given credit for the goal with an assist to Young.

The final period saw two more Middlebury tallies, the first when Art Pepin, playing defense but with five men up, sent on in from his position near the blue line. The final score of the game was another goal by Moore with an assist to Palmstrom.

Since the entire squad did not make the trip there were a few changes in the previous lines. The first line of Captain Gale, Moore and Palmstrom remained untouched, but Young replaced Urban in the second line, making it Dunham, Proctor, and Young. Bob Whittier substituted in this line during the game. At defense the only substitution was Paul Gale for Pepin several times through the game.

R. Gagnier Sings Varied Program

Refreshing is the word for the concert of selected songs presented by Miss Rita Gagnier, Friday night in Mead Chapel. It was a recital of selected songs, young in spirit and sung with no less vivacity. Ranging in scope from Verdi's "O Patria Mia" to a new song of Stanley Saxton's, the program was well-balanced, a little amazing in its inclusiveness, and on the whole a thorough delight.

The first selection of the program, which included songs from Delibes, Debussy, and Faure, also included the pleasing "Ah, Je Veux Vivre," which Miss Gagnier rendered with considerable joyfulness. She seemed to have no

As Mr. Duranty explained in his lecture, when he spoke with Stalin about the communique he wrote for the Times, he mentioned Stalin as donning the mantle of Lenin. Stalin changed the wording to read "the faithful disciple who will carry on the ideals of Lenin." Trotzky and his dramatic backers attempted to make it look as though he had been pushed out of the number one position, but as Lenin proved by appointing Stalin as party secretary, Stalin was his choice after Lenin passed on.

Stalin made his way the hard way at home while the other members were paving the road of success in the West. In comparison to Trotzky, Stalin has never been his mental equal by any stretch of the imagination but he had the support of the people.

have been active in other teams before their enlistment.

The probable lineup will be as in the last game, with Brown, Hitchner, Mooney, Stevens and Cooke starting. Since the actual ability of their competition is not known the prediction of such a game would be very hard. It is a fact, however, that these boys will put up a good fight and should make a real game of it.
